Deception: Betrayed Hearts

by Terence L. Taylor

Life is drama. Relationships are good, bad, and ugly.

Nine questions for your next gathering. Start anywhere.

1 Which of the four reminded you of someone you know? What was it about her?

2 The friends keep a Sunday brunch pact. What tradition or person in your life is that sacred to you?

3 Have you watched a friendship or a relationship change when someone new entered the picture? What did you do?

4 Cyn is drawn to a charming, attentive man. What do you look for first in someone's character, and what do you tend to overlook?

5 The love interest is never named. Why do you think the author left him nameless, and who did you picture?

6 Which friend would you call first in a crisis, and why?

7 Did any friend's choices surprise you?

8 How did the ending leave you feeling about relationships, the good, the bad, and the ugly?
